Updates

Following on from the homework set by the Friends on skills of friends and family, please can you let us know if you would be willing to spare any time to share your skills with our young people. This may be for a one off event or on a more regular basis. The homework is currently on display in the school hall and it has been noted that Cartmel has some talented parents, carers and extended family! Please don't hide your talents; come and share them with us! With thanks,
Mrs Battersby
